

NCTA Princeton Presents

“The Mongols, Ethnicity, and the Samurai: Teaching East Asia and the World”

A one-day session with three lectures, and discussions with Princeton Professor Thomas Conlan covering rise of the Mongols, the Mongol Invasions of Japan, and the question of ethnicity in East Asia.

The program is designed for high school teachers, but junior high instructors are also welcome. Discussions will explore how to teach these topics, and how to use web-based and written sources in the classroom.

Thomas Conlan teaches Japanese history in the Departments of East Asian Studies and History at Princeton.

Website links: <https://eas.princeton.edu/people/thomas-conlan> ; <https://scholar.princeton.edu/tconlan>

Date: Saturday, November 12, 2022

Time: 9:00 a.m. to 2:15 p.m.

Place: Princeton University campus, in-person

Other: lunch will be provided

Schedule

Lecture I 9:00 a.m. - 10:00 The Rise of the Mongols and their Invasion of Japan.

Discussion 10:00 - 10:15

Break 10:15 - 10:30

Lecture II 10:30 - 11:30, East Asian Diplomacy 1280 -1600: Before and After the Arrival of Europeans

Discussion 11:30 -11:45

Lunch 11:45 - 1:00

Lecture III and Discussion 1:00 - 2:15 Samurai: The Warrior Culture of Japan 1280-1868.

Registration:

To register, please go to: <https://ncta.princeton.edu/registration/>

We hope that you will join us!

Richard Chafey, Administrator
National Consortium for Teaching About Asia